

Bremen Classic Motorshow kicks off the season for the 19th time

The classic car community has been coming together in North Germany on the first weekend in February since 2003

8 July 2020. Fans of older and younger classic vehicles on two and four wheels have already saved the date: From Friday 5 to Sunday 7 February 2021, they will again flock to the MESSE BREMEN exhibition site. Currently, the organisers of the 19th Bremen Classic Motorshow are as always planning special shows featuring rarities, an international classic vehicle market, and an original autojumble for all repairers and restorers.

There's a long tradition of kicking off the season in Bremen: Every first weekend in February since 2003, the exhibition halls become a Mecca for collectors, first-time buyers and enthusiasts, dealers, restorers and clubs. In 2020, the Bremen Classic Motorshow achieved record numbers: 738 exhibitors from ten countries presented a live vehicle history experience to 45,582 visitors.
